

Geography

- Royal Geographical Society podcasts – Ask the Geographer - <https://soundcloud.com/rgsibg>
 - o These podcasts cover a huge range of Geographical issues and are aimed at A level Geography students. They are around 20 mins in length.
- National Geographic - Is Climate Change real? –
 - o Climate change is one of the key issues that is facing our generations and this piece gives some excellent details about the issue - <https://www.nationalgeographic.com/environment/global-warming/global-warming-real/>
- Discovering Antarctica – Life in Antarctica
 - o A look at what life is like on the last uninhabited continent on the planet. <https://discoveringantarctica.org.uk/science-and-exploration/living-in-antarctica-today/>
- Yellowstone volcano film - <https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=WFaFfdOzPP8>
 - o This film looks at what would happen if Yellowstone supervolcano erupted. It is filmed in the style of a documentary and looks at the before, during and after. It is very interesting to see the wide ranging impacts that this would have on our way of life!
- China's lonely hearts (Channel 4) - <https://www.channel4.com/programmes/unreported-world/on-demand/56011-011>
 - o China's one child policy has resulted in there being 24m more men than women! This documentary is a fascinating look at the issues this has caused on a personal level. There are many more episodes in the series about a whole range of topics.

Title: What does Geography mean to me?

- Using the title, create a piece of work to show what Geography means to you. It could include your favourite topics, case studies, why it is important etc.
 - o You can answer it in whatever format you like
 - You could make a video
 - You could make a collage (e.g. on Google Jamboard)
 - You could write an essay (no more than 2 pages)
 - You could make an audio recording
 - You can do anything to answer the question.